Help Is At Hand

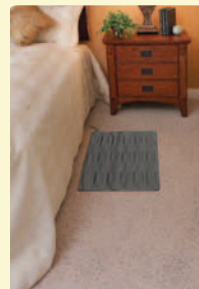

PERSONAL EMERGENCY RESPONSE SYSTEM

The SafetyChoice™ PERS unit means that help is always on-call. With the simple push of a button on a console, wrist band or pendant, a response professional at the central monitoring station will answer the client through the two-way, tabletop PERS console and respond to the call for help. The central monitoring station will then dispatch the appropriate help — an ambulance, neighbor, family, or friends.

ENHANCE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF YOUR PERS SYSTEM FOR AN ADDED DEGREE OF SAFETY

PRESSURE MATS

Ideal for people who are fall risks or suffering with dementia, wireless floor mats send an alarm to the monitoring station when the mat is stepped on.

PORTABLE PERS WITH GPS TECHNOLOGY

The Portable PERS with GPS technology is an ideal solution for individuals concerned with safety away from home. An individual's location can be determined with pinpoint accuracy via internet or telephone. In the case of an emergency, one push of the SOS Alert button sends a signal to the central monitoring station where the device holder is connected via a two-way speaker phone.

VIDEO MONITORING SYSTEMS

Video monitoring is an effective and efficient way to keep in touch with seniors. Through a secure connection, the monitoring station, family members, or caregivers can keep in visual contact. The system can even be programmed to send a video signal in case of an emergency.

SMOKE/CO DETECTORS

In the event of an emergency, these detectors signal the monitoring station to dispatch the local fire department.

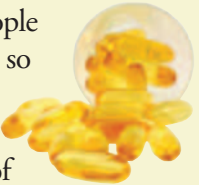

DOOR/WINDOW CONTACTS

Motion detectors or door sensors can be programmed to signal when a door is opened or motion is detected within the home.

MEDICATION MANAGEMENT

Approximately 40% of people entering nursing homes do so because they are unable to self-medicate in their homes. In addition, 30% of all hospital admissions for people over age 65 are directly attributable to medication miss-management. Comfort Keepers® offers a number of ways to assist seniors with management of their medications. From simple daily reminders to dispensing technology, we help to ensure clients take the proper dosages and combinations of medicines at the appropriate times throughout the day.

AROUND-THE-CLOCK MONITORING

The central monitoring station offers around-the-clock help in case of an emergency. Trained professionals respond directly to a call for help through a two-way conferencing feature, dispatch appropriate help when needed and alert caregivers or loved ones. They remain on the line with a senior or family member until help arrives or the emergency has passed. Our goal is to provide rapid response, support and communication with responders, caregivers and family members.
